Managing Editor: Chris Spisak

Waterman Rendezvous time again! This year it is on Saturday July 25th.

Lots of good food and a chance to see many of your hiking friends. There are several hikes to choose from. And don't forget the Fall Festival and the Holiday Hooplah. See the schedule, beginning on page 12.

We hope to see you there!

Lilly and I have tendered our resignations as editors to the Management Committee. We from the start wanted to update the newsletter appearance and contents, with color and photos, and we feel that we have accomplished this to a degree, but there are always improvements you can make. Work schedule and our other activities limit our involvement, so we felt it was time to hand over the reigns to someone else, and that person could be YOU. If you think you would like the position, contact Coby or another management member. A lot of you contributors are excellent writers and would serve the position well.

We cherish and have enjoyed our time here, and want to continue to contribute to future issues when we can. The November – December issue will be our final one.

Back to the present ~ We hope you enjoy this issue!

THE NAVIGATION CORNER: REALISTIC MAPPING – PART II

By Bob Myers, LTC Navigation Chair

In my last article, we started an exploration of alternatives to traditional topographic maps to address the difficulty map readers have in forming a mental image of the terrain from the contours lines. Great advances are being made in three dimensional (3D) mapping. This article will provide an overview of existing 3D mapping programs as well as provide instructions on how anyone can generate 3D topographic maps using Google Earth. A future article will explore some of the products that are under development.

Many desktop mapping programs have 3D viewing functions, including Terrain Navigator Pro, Delorme Topo North America 10, and National Geographic Topo (no longer available). For example, Terrain Navigator Pro allows you to view individual topographic maps in either 2D or 3D views (as well as seamless topographic maps combined).

As mentioned in previous articles, Google Earth is a great navigation tool and everyone should have it on their computers. Both Google Earth and Google Earth Pro are free and available for download at: <http://www.google.com/earth/explore/products/desktop.html>. There is now a web version of Google Earth, but the desktop versions give the user more functionality.

The advantage of Google Earth is that it provides a good snapshot of the actual terrain you will encounter when exploring new areas. In April, I led a Wonderland of Rocks Exploration trip through some canyons that I had not previously visited. As part of the trip preparation, I needed to estimate the amount of time to travel the planned route. With Google Earth, I was able to get a good idea of the terrain to supplement what I already knew.

One of the canyons we climbed through on the trip is boxed on the map below. The topographic map gives no real clue to what type of terrain might be encountered in this canyon, although it gives the impression of some openness.

The next image is a 3D view of the topographic map looking from west to east. Like the 2D map, this view gives the appearance that there might be an easy passageway through the canyon.

With Google Earth, you can get a much better view of the canyon, revealing that it contains a jumble of rocks that might make travel difficult. Although this segment is under a half mile in distance, it took us almost two hours to get through it. In the Wonderland of Rocks, I usually add an 800% squiggle factor to segments like this.

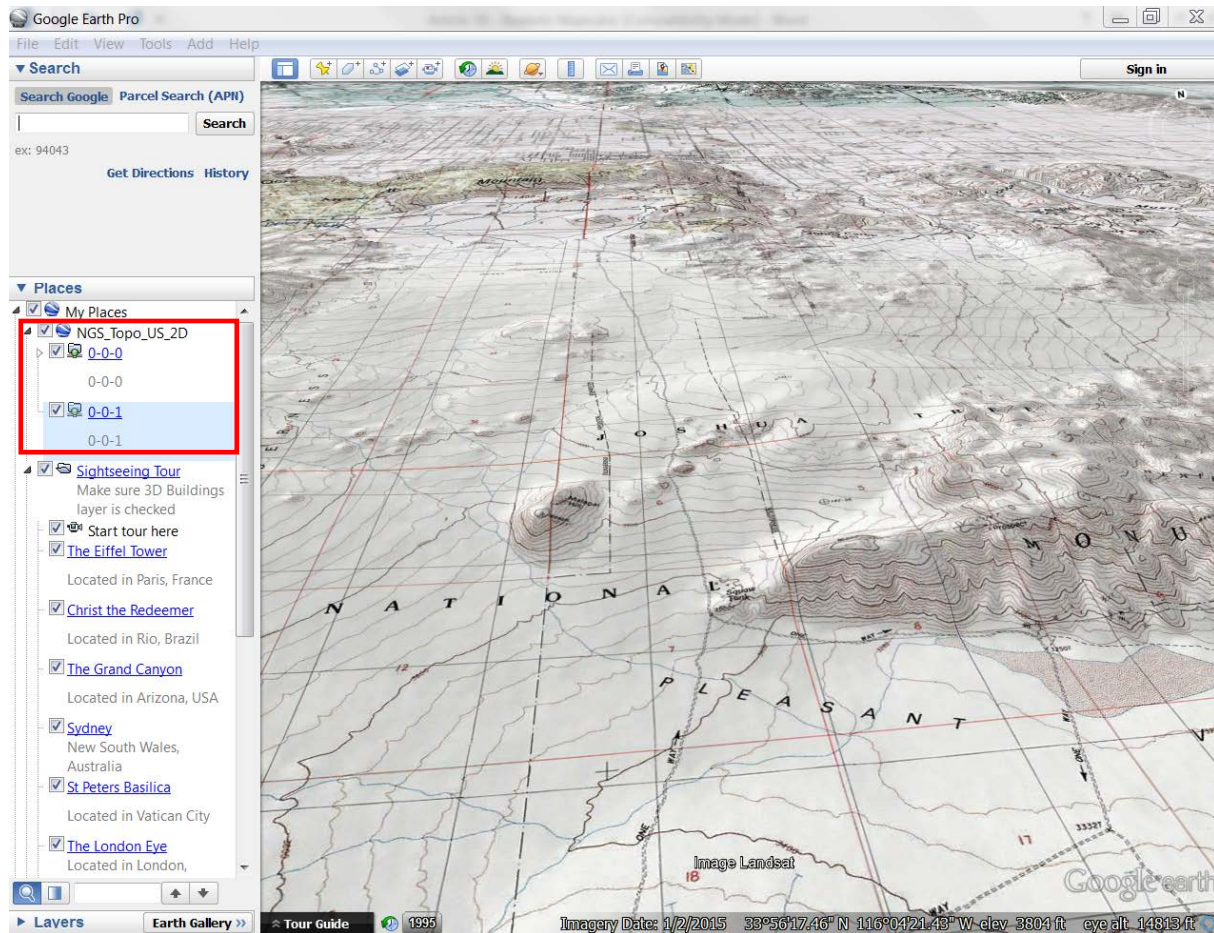

A topographic map layer can be added to Google Earth so that you can switch between viewing a satellite image and the USGS topographic map. Both of the images above showing the canyon from the west were created in Google Earth. Here are the instructions on how to add a USGS topographic map layer to Google Earth:

1. Download Google Earth if don't already have it on your computer.
2. Go to the following website:
http://services.arcgisonline.com/arcgis/rest/services/NGS\_Topo\_US\_2D/MapServer
3. At the top of the page, find the line “View In” and select the Google Earth link
4. Depending on your computer's settings, the file “NGS_Topo_US_2D.kmz” will either be downloaded automatically or you will be prompted to download the file.
5. Open Google Earth.
6. Under the File tab, select open and find the “NGS_Topo_US_2D.kmz” file on your computer to open it.
7. After doing so, the overlay (labeled NGS_Topo_US_2D) will be listed beneath Temporary Places. Drag it to “My Place” to permanently add it to Google Earth.

8. Depending on your computer's speed, it may take a while for the topographic map to render. Do not zoom in too quickly. You might need to double click the layer name.

If you have followed these steps correctly, your Google Earth screen should have the NGS_Topo_US_2D layer as indicated in the boxed area of the image below. If you uncheck the layer, you will have the satellite image. You can look at both in either overhead view or 3D view using the standard controls in Google Earth. Contact me if you have problems getting this to work.

Upcoming Navigation Event

Our annual Mt. Pinos Navigation Noodle is on August 2, 2015. We have selected this location for a summer navigation event because we are usually rewarded with weather much cooler than in the Los Angeles basin. We return to the San Bernardino Mountains on September 20, 2015, for our Grinnell Ridge Navigation Noodle.

At all of our navigation events, we can work with beginners. No prior navigation experience is required. All are welcome!!!

I welcome your navigation questions. Contact me at rmmyers@ix.netcom.com.

2015 WATERMAN RENDEZVOUS!!

JULY 25, 2015

Hard to believe it's already upon us, but sure enough, summer is here!! And along with summer come long days, warm nights, high altitude peaks to climb, and maybe best of all, the Annual HPS Waterman Rendezvous!! This year we're holding the Rendezvous on the last Saturday of July, specifically July 25, 2015. The idea is to have several hikes scheduled from different starting points converge on the summit of Waterman Mtn (8,038') at about the same time. Once on the summit we'll all spend some quality time enjoying the company of our friends, old and new alike, over a nice festive pot-luck that we all contribute to and carry up to the summit with us.

So far we've got four hikes scheduled; one will set out from the traditional trailhead near Buckhorn Campground (HPS Route 1), one will set off from Three Points and ascend via the beautifully forested West Ridge Trail, one will come in via Krakta Ridge, and one will head up from Cloudburst summit and ascend up through and around the Mt Waterman ski area. Other hikes may be added between now and the date of the Rendezvous; be sure to check the online HPS Outings schedule at <http://www.hundredpeaks.org/outings.htm> for additional offerings.

Whatever route you decide to take, please join us and help make this year's Waterman Rendezvous a rousing success!! To sign up for a particular hike, contact the leader of that hike directly as described in the trip write up. For general questions or to add a hike to the Rendezvous, contact mkelliher746@gmail.com

Rideshare Points

Rideshare Points mentioned in the Outings in this issue of The Lookout include:

La Canada Angeles Crest Hwy (Hwy 2), Just N of Foothill Fwy (I-210). Park on Angeles Crest Hwy only.

Note that new HPS outings are added to the online schedule of activities (OARS) all the time, often only a few days prior to when the trip is scheduled to occur. Rideshare Points that may be mentioned in those Outings posted on OARS, as well as most of the Angeles Chapter rideshare points (complete with directions and maps), can be found here:

http://angeles2.sierraclub.org/ltc\_ridesharing

Several roads that we frequently use to travel to the trailheads have warnings that headlights must be turned on for daylight use. These include, but are not limited to, sections of the Angeles Crest Highway, Highway 138 near Wrightwood, and highways between Lake Arrowhead and Big Bear. Penalties for failure to observe this requirement are very expensive. Be Safe!! Don't get a ticket! Turn on your headlights where required!
